

Take P Search

✓ Donate now

Edit background

David Akenhead

Edit display name

My Story

Edit story

I successfully completed 10 London Marathons between 2000 and 2010.

Edit profile pic

In 2009, I had to bow out due to a fractured maleolus finding me in a fibreglass cast for 3 months nursed by my late beloved Brigid SRN, Exeter. In The Virgin London Marathon in 2010, I was fine until Surrey Quays at the 17.2 mile mark when my maleolus suddenly kicked in and I was left hobbling until Big Ben where I was determined to end well, and I think from the photograph above of me in the Mall finishing, I succeeded, though I knew then, that my running days were over.

On Sunday 26th April, 16 years on, this wheelchair entry aged 79, aims to cross the finish line, and God willing, my tyres and I will in 5 hours or even under, but on the day, you never can tell, and that's the secret of this race, respect for